Laboratory Procedures

D-(+)-Glucose-¹³C₆ is supplied as a solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the D-(+)-glucose-¹³C₆ in the solvent of choice. D-(+)-Glucose-¹³C₆ is soluble in organic solvents such as ethanol, DMSO, and dimethyl formamide, which should be purged with an inert gas. The solubility of D-(+)-glucose-¹³C₆ in these solvents is approximately 0.3, 30, and 20 mg/ml, respectively.

Further dilutions of the stock solution into aqueous buffers or isotonic saline should be made prior to performing biological experiments. Ensure that the residual amount of organic solvent is insignificant, since organic solvents may have physiological effects at low concentrations. Organic solvent-free aqueous solutions of D-(+)-glucose-¹³C₆ can be prepared by directly dissolving the solid in aqueous buffers. The solubility of D-(+)-glucose-¹³C₆ in PBS, pH 7.2, is approximately 10 mg/ml. We do not recommend storing the aqueous solution for more than one day.

Description

D-(+)-Glucose-¹³C₆ is intended for use as an internal standard for the quantification of D-(+)-glucose (Item No. 23733) by GC- or LC-MS. D-(+)-Glucose is a monosaccharide that occurs in nature and is used by organisms as an energy source. D-(+)-Glucose is the more common enantiomer of L-(-)-glucose (Item No. 20829).
