Laboratory Procedures

Penbutolol (hemisulfate) is supplied as a solid. Aqueous solutions of penbutolol (hemisulfate) can be prepared by directly dissolving the solid in aqueous buffers. The solubility of penbutolol (hemisulfate) in PBS, pH 7.2, is approximately 0.25 mg/ml. We do not recommend storing the aqueous solution for more than one day.

Description

Penbutolol is an antagonist of β -adrenergic receptors (β -ARs; IC₅₀ = 2.8 nM) and the serotonin (5-HT) receptor subtype 5-HT_{1A} (IC₅₀ = 9.9 nM).¹ It inhibits adenylate cyclase activity induced by the β -AR agonist isoprenaline (isoproterenol; Item No. 15592) in guinea pig myocardial membranes with a K_i value of 2.4 nM.² Penbutolol reduces basal renin activity and blood pressure in spontaneously hypertensive rats.³ It decreases isolation-induced aggressive behavior in mice (ED₅₀ = 56 μ mol/kg) and reverses reductions in aggression induced by 8-hydroxy-DPAT (Item No. 22608) and TFMPP with ED₅₀ values of 8.1 and 2.1 μ mol/kg, respectively.¹ Formulations containing penbutolol were previously used in the treatment of arterial hypertension.
