Laboratory Procedures

Glycodehydrocholic acid is supplied as a crystalline solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the glycodehydrocholic acid in the solvent of choice, which should be purged with an inert gas. Glycodehydrocholic acid is soluble in organic solvents such as ethanol, DMSO, and dimethyl formamide (DMF). The solubility of glycodehydrocholic acid in ethanol is approximately 2 mg/ml and approximately 20 mg/ml in DMSO and DMF.

Further dilutions of the stock solution into aqueous buffers or isotonic saline should be made prior to performing biological experiments. Ensure that the residual amount of organic solvent is insignificant, since organic solvents may have physiological effects at low concentrations. Organic solvent-free aqueous solutions of glycodehydrocholic acid can be prepared by directly dissolving the crystalline solid in aqueous buffers. The solubility of glycodehydrocholic acid in PBS, pH 7.2, is approximately 1 mg/ml. We do not recommend storing the aqueous solution for more than one day.

Description

Glycodehydrocholic acid is a glycine-conjugated form of the synthetic bile acid dehydrocholic acid (Item No. 29176).¹
