Laboratory Procedures

BLU-782 is supplied as a solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the BLU-782 in the solvent of choice, which should be purged with an inert gas. BLU-782 is soluble in the organic solvent DMSO at a concentration of approximately 1 mg/ml.

Description

BLU-782 is an inhibitor of activin receptor-like kinase 2 (ALK2) containing an arginine-to-histidine substitution mutation at position 206 (ALK2^{R206H}), an activating mutation found in patients with fibrodysplasia ossificans progressiva (FOP), which is characterized by progressive heterotopic ossification, or diffuse intrinsic pontine glioma (DIPG), which is a type of pediatric brain stem cancer.¹ It binds to ALK2^{R206H} (IC₅₀ = ≤10 nM) and reduces phosphorylation of the ALK2 substrate SMAD1 at serine 463 (Ser⁴⁶³) and Ser⁴⁶⁵ in HEK293 cells expressing ALK2^{R206H} (IC₅₀ = ≤100 nM).
