Laboratory Procedures

AM92016 (hydrochloride) is supplied as a solid. A stock solution may be made by dissolving the AM92016 (hydrochloride) in the solvent of choice, which should be purged with an inert gas. AM92016 (hydrochloride) is soluble in organic solvents such as ethanol, DMSO, and dimethyl formamide (DMF). The solubility of AM92016 (hydrochloride) in ethanol and DMSO is approximately 1 mg/ml and approximately 3 mg/ml in DMF.

Description

AM92016 is an inhibitor of delayed-rectifier potassium current (I_{Kr} ; $IC_{50} = 40$ nM in isolated rabbit sinoatrial node cells).¹ It is selective for I_{Kr} over L-type voltage-gated calcium (Ca_v) current and hyperpolarization-activated inward current (I_f) at 1 μ M. AM92016 (50 nM) decreases the diastolic depolarization rate and increases cycle length and action potential duration at full repolarization in isolated rabbit sinoatrial node cells. It decreases the QT interval and increases heart rate in anesthetized guinea pigs when administered at a dose of 1 mg/kg.² AM92016 (1 mg/kg) decreases the time to first arrhythmia and ventricular fibrillation in ouabain-stimulated guinea pigs.
