Laboratory Procedures

Oleoyl serotonin-d₁₇ contains 17 deuterium atoms at the 11, 11', 12, 12', 13, 13', 14, 14', 15, 15', 16, 16', 17, 17', 18, 18, and 18 positions. It is intended for use as an internal standard for the quantification of oleoyl serotonin by GC- or LC-mass spectrometry (MS). For long term storage, we suggest that oleoyl serotonin-d₁₇ be stored as supplied at -20°C. It should be stable for at least one year.

Oleoyl serotonin-d₁₇ is supplied as a solution in ethanol. To change the solvent, simply evaporate the ethanol under a gentle stream of nitrogen and immediately add the solvent of choice. Solvents such as DMSO and dimethyl formamide purged with an inert gas can be used. The solubility of oleoyl serotonin-d₁₇ in these solvents is approximately 15 mg/ml.

Oleoyl serotonin-d₁₇ is used as an internal standard for the quantification of oleoyl serotonin by stable isotope dilution MS. The accuracy of the sample weight in this vial is between 5% over and 2% under the amount shown on the vial. If better precision is required, the deuterated standard should be quantitated against a more precisely weighed unlabeled standard by constructing a standard curve of peak intensity ratios (deuterated versus unlabeled).

Oleoyl serotonin is a hybrid molecule patterned after arachidonoyl serotonin (Item No. 70665). Arachidonoyl serotonin is a dual antagonist of fatty acid amide hydrolase (FAAH) and the transient receptor potential vanilloid-type 1 (TRPV1) channel, reducing both acute and chronic peripheral pain.^{1,2} Oleoyl serotonin inhibits capsaicin-induced TRPV1 channel activation (IC₅₀ = 2.57 μM) without blocking FAAH-mediated hydrolysis of arachidonoyl ethanolamide (IC₅₀ > 50 μM).¹
